

Edward C. Arditte is senior vice president of strategy and investor relations for Tyco International. He oversees Tyco's strategic planning activities and is responsible for investor relations and external communications.

Arditte was promoted to this role in February 2006. Previously, he served as Tyco's senior vice president of investor relations. He joined Tyco in May of 2003 after serving as chief financial officer at BancBoston Capital – the private equity division of FleetBoston Financial.

Arditte also spent more than 15 years at Textron Inc., an $11B corporation with global operations in a diverse set of industrial businesses. During his tenure at Textron, he held a number of positions of increasing responsibility, including vice president of investor relations and risk management; vice president of communications and risk management; vice president of finance and business development at the Textron Fastening Systems Group; and vice president and treasurer for Textron Inc.

Arditte holds a Masters degree in business administration in finance and management policy from Boston University Graduate School of Management and a Bachelors degree in political science and administration from the University of California, Riverside.

He is married with three children and lives in Princeton, New Jersey.